The Coeur D'Alene Tribe needed a protective flooring solution for their training center in Idaho. VersaFlex VF 105 epoxy base coat was selected due its viscous nature, which allows for the acceptance of a broadcast to provide a more aesthetic and decorative finish. Because of the viscosity, the colored broadcast flakes were accepted easily and allowed for the them to smoothly lay out. The floor was then applied with 8-10 mils of ClearSeal with the decorative flake broadcast and an additional 8-10 mils of ClearSeal as a top coat/sealer.
